Roll up! Roll up! Get down to your local library this summer and take part in a summertime circus spectacle that will encourage children to keep reading throughout the school summer holidays....with the 2011 Summer Reading Challenge™.

This year children will receive a 3D circus stage to build, with stickers to collect along the way and it's all free fun, which is top news for parents!

Children can choose any books they want from the library to complete the Circus Stars challenge: story books, information books and audio books all count and every child who completes the challenge is given a medal and certificate.

The Summer Reading Challenge will be running in Hampshire Libraries from 18 July to 11 September 2011. Check it out on www.circus-stars.org.uk
